

Getting to know you...

The idea behind this sheet is to get to know just a little more about you before the summer gets underway. As you can see, some questions are trivial, some more meaningful. Please answer truthfully and with feeling!

What do you expect when you first arrive at camp?

Describe your expectations for the summer:

Are you more likely to be the first one up in the morning, or the last one to bed at night?

In the movie of your life, what actor or actress would play you?

What music is in your CD player, on your MP3 player or radio right this second?

If you were on stuck on a deserted island, what 3 people would you want there with you?

What 'luxury item' are you most likely to pack?

And what will you miss most from home?

Finally, one of these pictures is me. Now you know what I look like (or do you?) it would be great to know who to expect when June comes around. Stick a picture in the corner and I guarantee recognition upon arrival!!
