

CAMP TWIN CREEKS

When Amy and I return home to the Philadelphia area at the end of each summer we are always asked by friends and family alike; “how was the summer?”

This year it was so refreshing for us to be able to respond with an emphatic positive response! This summer seemed to mark a return to some sense of normalcy after the summers of 2020 and 2021 challenged us all in a variety of ways. Leadership staff all returned from 2021 and were supplemented with those international staff that were not able to join us for the last two years. Counselors were also phenomenal. This combination led to a phenomenal starting off point!

Thank you so much for being a significant part of it as well! Our camp families were supportive throughout, campers were excited to be back in their summer home or to be discovering the magic of sleepaway summer camp, and Camp Twin Creeks specifically, for the first time.

It is with the same excitement that we begin to plan for the 2023 summer! We begin this process each September with the goal that the next summer will be even better than the one just past. This year we have an extra reason for such optimism as we announce that Gordon Josey, the original owner of Camp Twin Creeks, has transitioned ownership to Canyonlands Camps. Founded by a wife-husband team, Canyonlands Camps is a family of best-in-class camps and believes that the camp experience can play an incredible role in youth development.

The goal of everyone within the Canyonlands team is to preserve tradition, culture and the unique magic that each summer camp enjoys. As a result, expect no significant changes in the way Camp Twin Creeks operates, other than a renewed commitment to investing in our ever important camp personnel and in the physical camp property.

On the docket for the next few years, time and weather permitting, are an updated health center, theater improvements, completion of all cabin porches and also a number of exciting new program areas.

Amy and I feel fortunate and blessed to have been a part of the original Camp Twin Creeks journey that started in 2001 with Gordon and to have witnessed such growth and joy each and every summer. We are equally as excited to embark on this new chapter with the Canyonlands family.

Please reach out if you have any questions at all!
